drive for zoë june 2008

Zoë King was a very gifted young woman, apart from her school studies, she was a talented musician, artist and writer. Zoë fought cancer for three years, but she did not let it get her down, she displayed a positive attitude at all times. Sadly, Zoë lost her battle on Wednesday, 12th September 2007, a few days before her 18th birthday, she was an only child.

During Zoë's last year of life she helped Lynne McNicoll, a volunteer fund-raiser for Teenage Cancer Trust in Edinburgh, to raise money for this very worthwhile charity. For example she modelled in fashion shows and that is why we are so fortunate in having such wonderful photographs of Zoë. Teenage Cancer Trust focuses on the needs of teenagers and young adults with cancer, leukaemia and Hodgkins and related diseases, by providing specialist units in NHS hospitals (see over).

Unfortunately there was no Teenage Cancer Trust unit in Edinburgh, this meant that Zoë had to sit her exams in a doctor's office and was often kept awake by babies crying. Having said this, however, Zoë was brilliantly cared for by the doctors and staff at the Royal Hospital for Sick Children in Edinburgh. Sharon and John King, Zoë's parents, are determined to continue with Zoë's work for Teenage Cancer Trust, and this is where I am hoping to help. I head up the private client side of Bell Lawrie in Edinburgh (part of Brewin Dolphin), Sharon has worked in our company for many years. I have decided to drive my 50 year old Morgan Plus Four round all 39 Brewin Dolphin offices during the second half of June as a fundraising exercise. These branches range from Inverness in the North to the Channel Islands in the South, and over to Belfast.

Details of our route, and come June our daily schedule, will be available on the website and all funds raised will go to the Teenage Cancer Trust.

I am very fortunate in having the Brewin Dolphin branch network as the basis of my challenge and indeed the full support of the company behind me.

The Drive for Zoë campaign was launched at the Bell Lawrie Scottish Schools' Rugby Cup Finals at Murrayfield on 25th January, in front of a crowd of 5,500 people.

Drive for Zoë starts in Edinburgh on Sunday, 15th June and is expected to take a fortnight to complete. I will be in the car all the way round, but will be joined by four friends as co-drivers for roughly three day stints each:

Stage

- | | |
|---|------------------------------|
| 1 | Hugh Brown of Edinburgh |
| 2 | Hugh McMinn of North Berwick |
| 3 | Aly Hunter of Kirkliston |
| 4 | Simon Scott of Barry |

Needless to say I am aiming to raise as much money for Teenage Cancer Trust as possible in memory of Zoë King, who is greatly missed by her parents and many friends. Please see below the various methods of supporting my Drive for Zoë, and do tell your friends about this if you think they would like to help as well. Thank you.

where your donations are going

All donations to the Teenage Cancer Trust Drive for Zoë will go to help teenagers treated in Edinburgh fight cancer. Our goal is to have age appropriate services in both the Western General Hospital and the Royal Hospital for Sick Children. We also help teenagers who have lost their hair due to chemotherapy by providing real hair wigs.

Teenage Cancer Trust

Charity No: 1062559

Teenagers don't stop being teenagers just because they get cancer. Teenage Cancer Trust (TCT) makes sure young cancer patients get the best possible care in hospital and the chance to do all the things that other teenagers do. TCT funds specialist teenage cancer units in NHS hospitals. Our aim is to give every young person with cancer access to a Unit – which means we have to open another 14 by 2012. (we have 8 in the UK at present). We provide expert staffing and support for patients and their families throughout their cancer journey. We also empower young people through education and advocacy.

We need all the help we can get to make our goals a reality. We want to ensure that every young person with cancer has the best possible care and support, wherever they live in the UK. It costs around £2m to open a Unit and we have to raise all of this money ourselves. With your help and the help of people like Alan Biggar we can really make a difference.

Lynne McNicoll, Teenage Cancer Trust

The new TCT unit opened in Glasgow last year.
